

Annual Cookie Exchange Party!

Today is National Cookie Day!

It's time to start thinking about those Christmas cookies! I love to make a lot and share them with my neighbors and the people I work with – Not to mention my family loves them! What is your favorite cookie? Share it here – and maybe find a new one!

This party will be happening every Monday until Christmas – but the list is on-going, so be sure to share something new!

Share your latest and greatest Cookie recipes here! But only sweet treats!

Please remember to visit at least two posts for every one you share – it just takes a minute!

That's it – So on to the Cookie Exchange Party!

Let's get started on another deliciously fun party!

And don't forget to leave a comment – I love hearing from you!

Here are the Rules – Let's make this party fun for everyone!

1. Please Only sweet treats that include recipes or links to recipes! (Sadly, all non food posts or posts without recipes will be deleted).
2. Please, no Blog parties.
3. Please do NOT use stock photos. Make sure the recipe and the photos are your own!
4. Please do not post anything that includes items for purchase! Do not share posts that focus on sales of any kind.

5. Visit some of the other party goers!! That's what makes it a party!

So let's get to some cookie making!
