

“Carrot” Eggs

All those Easter eggs! Looking for a fun NEW way to use those Easter eggs? How about as

A photograph of several hard-boiled eggs with a pinkish-orange tint, arranged on a white plate. Fresh green parsley is scattered around the eggs. A large, semi-transparent pink circle is overlaid on the image, containing the text "Carrot Eggs" in a white, cursive font.

Carrot Eggs

It's easy to make peeled eggs look like little carrots – want to know more?

What you need:

- 6-12 hard-boiled eggs, peeled
- Red and yellow food coloring
- $\frac{1}{2}$ bunch of curly parsley

How to Do it:

After boiling the eggs, crack the shell and put them in a bowl of cold water for a few minutes.

Peel them under cold running water and the shell and membrane should come off easily. Dry them well on paper towels.

In a bowl of water, add 20 drops of yellow food color and 10 red. Mix well. Add the dry, peeled eggs to the water and let sit for about 5 minutes, until the color is bright orange.

Allow the eggs to dry.

Using a skewer, put a hole in the fat end of the egg.

Push a small bunch of parsley into the hole, like carrot leaves.

Arrange on plate and serve as an appetizer.

© 2016 The Lazy Gastronome

© Copyright 2016 The Lazy Gastronome

© 2016 The Lazy Gastronome

We were featured!!

